in 1962 the blurb for the first english edition of war and the gospel warned that the problem of war is as old as the christian faith but it has assumed a greater urgency in our own time this remains grimly true after 60 years in the decade after world war 2 jean lasserre made a clear and vigorous case for an exegetical grounding of our attitudes towards war in the modern world he states that christian theology should start from the scriptures not from preconceived ideas with the super powers of the united states and the ussr at each other s throats and the threat of nuclear armageddon on the horizon jean lasserre penned this sober investigation into how christians should think about war and violence he begins with the pacifism of jesus his teachings and his examples in the new testament questions are raised as to when it is morally obligatory to disobey the state and whether lethal force can be justified in prisons and by our police forces a topic that has seen renewed relevance during the first quarter of the twenty first century war and the gospel remains a serious discussion of issues that are sadly evergreen justice after war is aimed especially to both undergraduate and graduate students as well as the general audience who want to understand the significance of a recent development within the just war tradition namely the increasing attention given to the category of jus post bellum postwar justice and peace while examining the interrelated challenges of moral and social norms in both political and legal domains as well as church practices this work proposes an innovative methodology for linking theology ethics and social science so that the ideal and the real can inform each other in the ethics of war and peacebuilding the main task of this project then is to identify what the author views as three key themes of jus post bellum and three practices that are essential to implementing jus post bellum immediately after a war just policing just punishment and just political participation david kwon endeavors to challenge the view of those who suggest that reconciliation mainly political reconciliation is the foremost ambition of jus post bellum instead he attempts to justify the proposition that achieving just policing just punishment and just political participation are essential to building a just peace a peace in which the fundamental characteristic must be human security it thus demonstrates that human security is an oft neglected theme in the recent discourse of moral theologians and that a more balanced understanding of jus post bellum will direct attention to the elements composing human security in a postwar context
